

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction	xi

PART ONE: IDEAS

1. Sustainability and Wildness	3
2. What is Rewilding?	9
3. Subsistence	19
4. Technology, Ethics and Freedom	27
5. How to Walk Away from Civilization.	33
6. Reflections at the End of the World	43
7. On Being White	51
8. Veganism or Radical Sustainability? Tough Questions About Diet	59
9. Something in the Rain	69
10. Succession	75
11. Killing the Most Beautiful Thing.	83

PART TWO: ENDANGERED SKILLS

12. Learning How to Live	89
13. Honoring the Bodies of Animals— By Eating Them	91
14. Feral Food Preservation: Unconventional and Traditional Methods of Putting Things By.	103
15. Meet Your New Friends: Indispensable Plant Allies for Hard Times.	123

16. Feral Food Cultivation: Thoughts and Strategies on “Tending the Wild”	133
17. Hunter-Gatherer, Gardener-Trapper	141
18. Dressing and Undressing Our Food: How to Skin and Gut a Creature	155
19. De-Industrializing Contraception: Birth Control for Sustainability and Survival	163
20. Working with Skin	171
21. Getting to Know Nuts	187
22. Exploring Entomophagy: Bugs as Food	193
23. Fire and Light	203
24. The Tao of Poo: Notes on “Giving Back”	211
Conclusion: The Future Primitive	217
Index	219
About the Author	225